

SENIOR SOFTWARE ENGINEER (NOVA)

21st July 2025

Iterable

Dear Iterable,

Hello!

I'm a hands-on (read: coding) tech leader who mentors and brings up engineers while building projects. I've successfully run many challenging projects and I'm definitely the person who barrels through roadblocks to get things done.

For example, my most recent project required coordination with five squads and, each partly staffed with contractors who had a stake in not coordinating, since they believed it would hurt their bottom line. This project was challenging, but ultimately successful.

Or the Groupon Points program, which had many documented challenges but delivered on time and succeeded.

On Scala, I know that I've written it before, but I can't for the life of me remember where. In any case, I'm deeply familiar with its underlying principles from other languages.

Sincerely,

Jason Felice
